Council measures demand for residential development, based on a per Bedroom, or per suite basis, subject to the terms of Charges Resolution No. 7.

Otherwise, for non-residential development:

In accordance with Charges Resolution No. 7, Council measures the demand placed upon the transport, water supply and sewerage networks for non-residential development via the application of a per metre squared of GFA approach – based on the material provided by the applicant and assessed, interrogated and approved as part of the development application. The units of measure for these networks is metres squared of GFA.

For the stormwater network, Council measures demand via the application of a per metre squared of impervious area approach – based on the material provided by the applicant and assessed, interrogated and approved as part of the development application. The unit of measure for this network is metres squared of impervious area.
